1 3. In the summer of 2006, I first met the Defendant Thomas R. Hazelrigg III. At that
2 time, I was trying to obtain financing to obtain the Centurion Properties III assets that are
3 currently at issue in this litigation.
4

5 4. Approximately one year ago, during a conversation with Mr. Hazelrigg, he took 6 great pride in telling me that given his extensive history in repossession of property, including
7 extensive history in collection law, real estate law, and his purchase of bank notes at reduced
8 costs, most of which occurred in the 1990s, that he had gained tremendous experience in 9 avoiding process service, and that he was smarter than lawyers and process servers, and others
10 involved in the legal process.
11

12 5. This appears consistent with my understanding that over the past several months, 13 legal process servers have not been very successful in serving Mr. Hazelrigg, and in fact, I have 14 been told by ABC Legal Service, one of the many process-service companies that have 15 attempted to serve Mr. Hazelrigg, that they have been successful in personally serving him on 16 only a couple of occasions out of as many as fifty attempts of service in the past six months or 17 so.
18

19 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of Washington that the 20 foregoing is true and correct.
21

22 SIGNED at Kennewick, WA this 11th day of March, 2010.
